TRANSFORM YOUR NETWORK. TRANSFORM YOUR BUSINESS.

WINDSTREAM ENTERPRISE

Staying ahead in a rapidly changing business environment

Today, every company is in the technology business; whether they want to be or not. There's a tectonic shift taking place in our industry; a shift that's transforming the world faster than ever before. It used to be the network was the thing that simply connected businesses, people and places. Today, it's the backbone for how business gets done.

The reasons behind this shift are clear. Customers have become accustomed to getting anything they want, anytime, anywhere. Their expectations are high, and their satisfaction is paramount.

If you don't deliver the kind of experience they demand, another provider is just a click away. The impact of this business environment is enormous and is a primary driver behind IT transformation and the enterprise shift to the cloud. With this kind of technology disruption on the rise, network and cloud application performance is more essential than ever.

To keep pace, businesses must improve their ability to address customer needs. So, it's essential to have a partner that understands your challenges and the importance of the network to help you succeed.

SOLUTIONS

A solution is only a solution if it works for you

At Windstream Enterprise, we know a solution is only a solution if it's designed to work for you. Too often large communications providers bundle existing products and sell them as a solution without understanding unique customer challenges or needs.

Windstream Enterprise is different. We bring deep knowledge and industry expertise into your world. Working closely with you to understand your challenges and leverage opportunities. Collaborating, refining and creating until we've tailored the right solution – a solution so fitting, you can't imagine your world any other way. We've done this for thousands of companies of all shapes and sizes. Solving challenges. Not selling services. Putting the control where it belongs—with you.

PARTNERSHIPS

Windstream isn't like other network providers

We're built to serve businesses like yours. We're agile and forward-looking, open and collaborative. We believe in a partnership that empowers your business and your network. Working together to create solutions that flex and scale with your needs. Adding capacity when growth accelerates; or pulling back when it slows. Leveraging technology to improve outcomes and drive growth.

A different kind of network from a different kind of network provider

Our team meets your team at the intersection of ideas

No two businesses are exactly the same, so your network shouldn't be either. Windstream Enterprise takes the time to get to know you and your goals, tapping into our deep industry knowledge. Working closely with your team to imagine, build, deploy and manage the right solution for your organization.

Solutions for an always-on, 360° world

The first thing our customers tell us is that we're easy to do business with. We have local support teams that work with you directly to assess your challenges and understand your business goals to create a roadmap that addresses today's needs while future-proofing your network for tomorrow.

We've seen a lot in our history of building, sustaining and adapting networks. But, we will never assume that what's worked for others will work for you. We'll look at all the options and potential solutions to structure the optimal solution for you. A solution that offers a mix of performance, reliability, security and control. We'll use tools and services to prioritize and protect your most critical data, applications, locations and users. Pulling in our Professional Services Organization when needed. Applying our deep industry knowledge to your solution.

Once implemented, we'll provide ongoing support and expertise to monitor, manage and maintain your solution ensuring optimized performance to meet your evolving needs. All while surrounding you with a 360° service and support experience from a dedicated team that works on your agenda, not ours.
